- > Increase business opportunities and revenue.

Provide a rich, multimedia classroom experience for less.

Deliver effective training live or on demand using Cisco WebEx™ Online Classroom from PGI. Drive product adoption by offering your customers easy access to web-based training. Educate your channel partners and field reps regularly, so they always have current information. Train global employees to advance their skills, or push revenue-generating initiatives to market faster.

Engage learners with lively, interactive instruction.

Share powerful presentations, stream media modules or live video, and even pass control to attendees to demo applications. Give students the chance to practice and review using in-class breakout sessions or hands-on labs before, during, or after class. Measure proficiency with robust testing, grading, and polling tools. Then leverage your investment by creating a digital archive of training sessions for self-paced study on demand.

Decrease costs and increase revenue.

Provide training for anyone, anywhere—without spending on venues and travel expenses. You'll save a bundle. You can even transform your training program into a strategic revenue center by using WebEx Online Classroom self-service registration and payment features.
